

Terralingua

invites you to

A Cultural Celebration and Fundraiser for the Rarámuri People in the Sierra Tarahumara, Mexico

Help us bring a group of indigenous Rarámuri people from the Sierra Tarahumara, Mexico to Salt Spring Island for a community to community exchange on sustainability!

Salt Spring residents Drs. David Rapport and Luisa Maffi have been working with the Rarámuri in Mexico to help restore the ecological health and social well-being of their communities, which have been severely threatened by rapid environmental, social and economic changes. As a next step in the process, we hope to bring some of them here to train in permaculture techniques and share their knowledge and skills with our community.

Come learn more about this project from Terralingua Director Dr. Luisa Maffi, and Seven Ravens Farm's Michael Nickels, who has worked with us in the Sierra and will host the exchange.

Stay for a fiesta of Latin American rhythms and food! Music courtesy of Jose Sanchez and Alvaro Sanchez. A diversity of tasty dishes accompanied by home-made tortillas.

When: Thursday, November 27 2008, 6-8 pm

Where: Gulf Islands Secondary School,
Multipurpose Room

Entry and food by donation.

For more information call: 250-538-0939 or visit our website at: www.terralingua.org

